VP Communiqué

My dear young friends,

It fills my heart with extreme joy and excitement to address you as the VP of CIER. Innovations always inspire us very much, especially when it is coupled with creativity and will. CIER is a creative and an innovative initiative, as we both realize. It thus became our obligation and commitment now to add more energy into that. I appreciate CS. Bilu Balakrishnan for all his sincere and committed efforts over the past several years. I also thank CIER for having assigned me the responsibilities of a VP.

Now you are temporarily away from the normal heat of exams and waiting for good news. I am sure that your sheer hard work and determination would bring good result. I wish you all success in your exams.

Education is not meant only for livelihood. It is not for getting a job, earning some money, economically settling life or having social recognitions. It is much beyond all these. It must enable us to grow beyond our limitations, think beyond barriers, accept all good things, register our protest firmly, enable, empower and respect others, protect the nature and so on. These are the fascinations of real education. If we are not able to remove our mental blocks that are limiting us to grow beyond even having educated, it is as equal as we are not educated! Again, education shall not be restricted to something we can call as a syllabus, profession etc. Such things are mere gateways for us to enter in. It is rather not relevant which way we have selected for. It is more important to keep the enthusiasm in life throughout our journey!

Friends, if you look at CIER and analyse its initiatives in the past, you would realize this fascination and enthusiasm. We need to respond to things, interfere positively in the society and create more innovative output to register our presence in this world. I thus wish to tell you to be more active in the society, in any field that you are confident about. I also wish to announce the forthcoming Kerala State Conference of Company Secretaries to be held on August 21st and 22nd at Cochin, being organized by Cochin Chapter of ICSI. CIER is actively involving in organizing this conference and I invite all of you to attend the same. CIER will handover the conference brochure to you. Please remember, you need not be a student of ICSI to attend the conference as seats are reserved for other professional students also. As I said before, let us not discriminate each other.

I look forward to interact with you quite frequently in the coming days. Please come up with your comments and suggestions and let us have a good time ahead.

In service,

CS. Jayan K.
Vice-President, CIER
